

A letter from Joseph Maxwell

Hello friend,

Thank you for your interest in downloading the Frontend Developer study guide! This is the most comprehensive source of self-study information available, regarding preparing for this test.

I have spent hundreds of hours working on these materials to help you achieve those coveted certifications. As such, it is very exciting to have a hand in helping hundreds, and possibly thousands, of folks just like you become certified.

I have made the tough decision to begin charging for some or all of our study guides. For those of you who have run a business, there comes a point where you have to also make that business viable.

As such, you are more than welcome to purchase the study guide at our website, here.

I look forward to writing more material in the future. Thank you for your part in all of this.

Sincerely,

Joseph Maxwell
